MEETING OF THE LEGISLATURE.

If a beautiful day may be accepted as an auspicious sign, the meeting, yesterday, of the Legislature is to be regarded es promising harmony and all the other blessings that it is customary to make upon Legislative heads. The Lower House was speedily organized, and in such a manner as to promise promptness, efficiency and expedition in the transaction of business; and we are glad to note that Mr. Speaker Adkinson had the good taste to forbear the perpetration of a long winded speech upon his fellow Assemblymen. Hon. John Maybugh, the speaker pro tem, is a gentlemen of much experience in parliamentary matters, and his choice is an excellent one, although, as a matter of county pride, we should have liked to see that bonor conferred upon Hon Sam. C. Wright. The other officers of the liouse seem to be well selected and with a very fair regard to "geographical" lines and locations. We must be althe Assembly would have shown better taste, at least, if they had not disposed of the proposition to elect a Chaplain, so summarily. We cannot bring our selves to believe that that body would have been any the worse for a daily morning prayer offered up in their behalf; for while we cheerfully accord to cessors, we are fain to believe its members to be "on praying ground." Moreant and the other Catholic, to have been Senate, upon convening, found some pretty well known that Mr. Carpenter makes no claim to a seat in the Senate ; and even if he should do so, the action of the Senate in the premises in no manner militates against his claims Mr. Hazard's name was also ordered to be omitted from the roll call, he not being present, and there being a question as to his right to a seat. (Mr. Hazard is the Senator elect from Lincala county, and is supposed to occupy the place of the twentieth, or " uncon situtional " (Senator). As in Mr. Car penter's case. Mr. Hazard's claims are in nowise affected by having his name so disposed of; for the matter can, (and doubtless will) come up for a more definite settlement. The speech delivbrief though it is, it expresses all that need be said. The Senate, like the need be said. The Senate, like the said. The Senate, like the promptness and by the selection of excellent officers. General Edwards, Prescient officers. General Edwards, Prescient officers. ON A GOLD BASIS.

It seems to be pretty much the general conclusion that the experiment of conducting our financial affairs upon a currency basis has not proved so entire. It is successful as was anticipated; and that general conviction promises the speedy action of the Legislature in providing for a return to coin. In theory, titis is as broad as it is long "whether the State's financial affairs are conducted edither in greenbacks or hard cash; but the experience of the last two years has demonstrated that the selling of greenbacks to meet coin demands is a losing game; and it is asserted in quarters where such statements are entitled to much weight, that the State is ac utility in the successful problem is of the very different bears where such statements are entitled to much weight, that the State is ac utility in the successful problem is of the very different bears where such statements are entitled to much weight, that the State is ac utility in the successful problem is of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the successful problem is of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and we are glad to a cash of the very first importance; and w It seems to be pretty much the gen-
